High-Fidelity Design Links to People-Centred Design

1. Affordance and signifiers

The image associated with its heading is an affordance concept as it allows users to understand that the organization engages in sharing their mission and goal. The heading and the "Learn More" button visually signify users to recognize that there is more information to explore.

2. Gestalt Principle of Proximity

Each six sections are positioned together to make navigation easier for users. The grouping of each image and label associated with its section also reduces user confusion and is perceived as a single group/unit.

3. Constraints

The date and time selection limits users to available dates and times, preventing invalid or overlapping bookings. For example, the dates shown as lighter and almost transparent demonstrate unavailability while the dates shown as less transparent are available.
